Speaking on the launch of Jarvis Atlas on 23 June, Sumit Chanda, Founder & CEO of Jarvis Invest, said, "For decades, investors have been forced to think in silos. Indian equities on one platform, global markets on another, commodities somewhere else, and research scattered across multiple sources. We believe that model no longer reflects how opportunities emerge in today's world. The future of investing is not about choosing between India, the US, Germany, the UK, or commodities. It is about having the intelligence to identify opportunities across all of them at the right time."
